

Hi Miniclip team,

I'm Tomás, a Junior Gameplay Programmer based in Lisbon applying for the Unity Software Developer role.

I've been working with Unity and C# across multiple projects, building gameplay systems, UI components, and handling performance optimization. I take pride in writing clean, maintainable code that holds up under iteration and scales with the product.

Being Lisbon-based means I'm ready to hit the ground running without any relocation overhead, and I'm genuinely excited about the prospect of contributing to games played by millions of players daily. The scale and polish that Miniclip operates at is exactly the kind of environment I want to grow in.

My portfolio and CV are available at bife13.github.io.

Looking forward to the opportunity!

Best,
Tomás Sousa
